Take the COLAGE Donor Insemination Survey

The first major effort of the ART Project is to conduct a national assessment of COLAGERS born through donor insemination. As part of this project, COLAGE is calling all youth born through donor insemination and their parents to take an online survey. In the upcoming months, COLAGE will be using all the great information we collect through these surveys to develop and debut new programs and resources giving COLAGERS born through DI tools to talk about their family, spark open dialogues within families and communities about donor insemination and equip both COLAGERS and parents to navigate schools and other institutions.

If you have any questions about surveys or the ART Project in general, please contact Jeff DeGroot, COLAGE Fellow at jeff@colage.org.
